DIRECTOR’S REPORT:
PADRAIC KENNEY

The 2018-19 academic year was a dramatic one at Collins LLC, as it was for the entire residential system at IU. We looked forward to big changes ahead, but also got to know our past a little better. At the same time, Collins emerged from the year with new focus and clarity. As we begin to set our sights on our 50th anniversary in 2022, Collins has a sure sense of its history and of what it contributes to education at Indiana.

This was my first year as Collins director, and one thing I can say would I am sure be echoed by most alumni and current students: Collins teaches you a lot. Above all, I learned that in the center of campus, in these iconic buildings, is an incredibly lively and engaged student community. It is a community with enormous potential, too. The challenge at Collins will always be to help students make the most of the Collins experience, and to make that experience visible to the next generation of prospective students.

This year, we sharpened the focus at Collins on three areas of our mission: Self-Government, Arts, and Sustainability.

Self-Government has been the core of Collins ever since a group of students compelled the university to create the Living-Learning Center way back in 1972, through coordinated, organized protest. Today, Collins is the home of the most active student government on campus. The Board of Programmers put on several major events each year; the Board of Educational Programming interviews instructors wishing to teach at Collins and organizes other educational events; Arts Council manages impressive facilities. Others run the non-profit café, teach Q-199 classes, and manage a sizeable budget derived from student fees. We want students to realize just how much real-world experience they are gaining in this work, so we’ve created an internship class, CLLC-X 273, allowing students to gain credit while engaging in any form of student leadership.

When I think about the arts at Collins, I notice how students who have chosen arts majors work together with students for whom artistic endeavors are something on the side, a break from a very different academic goal. This year’s winner of the Kabisch Award for Academic Excellence is majoring in Studio Arts—but many of our most committed artists have other academic interests. For me, the most moving experience at Collins this year came in December, when I toured the exhibit put on by students in Yara Clüver’s class on the Artist’s Book. They had created powerful works of art in the form of books—or perhaps books in the form of elaborate sculptures—and talked about their work in compelling ways. A few days later, I heard students in another of Clüver’s classes present prepared monologues about dramatic moments in their lives. Here again, I saw emotionally-compelling work harnessed to technically polished craftsmanship.

Together with the Integrated Program on the Environment (IPE), we worked all this year on preparing a new initiative called SustainCollins. This coming Fall, Cravens 1 will be the home of selected LLC students who have chosen to focus on sustainability. Like other LLC students, they’ll complete an individual community-oriented project in their Q199 class, and take a Collins seminar as well; both of these will have a sustainability theme. They’ll also take part in a year-long project focused on sustainable food. SustainCollins is led by Teresa Dunn from IPE and Tanjimul Alam of Sustain IU.

Under the leadership of Carmen Henne-Ochoa, Assistant Dean for Diversity, Equity and Inclusion in the College of Arts and Sciences, we began to take a close look at diversity and inclusion in Collins. I, along with Collins Student Government President Adam Dougherty, were inaugural members of the Diversity and Inclusion Action and Advisory Committee. Together, Adam and I also examined what Collins could do. We began with our own neighborhood, literally: looking around us, we wondered if we could build firmer ties with the cultural centers nearby, and so created Neighborhood Liaisons. Natalia Johnson and Marjorie Hubbard volunteered to connect us to the LGBTQ Cultural Center; Chithra Vedantam became our liaison with the Asian Cultural Center. Natalia Johnson also created a program with another neighbor, the Center for Excellence for Women in Technology. This coming year, we plan to expand the liaison program, so that Collins students are aware of the great programs nearby, while students active in those centers see Collins as a place that is genuinely welcoming, as a neighbor should be.

Collins definitely faced some difficult challenges in 2018-19. We were fortunate that the mold problem that affected several large residence halls left Collins unscathed (no surprise, given our lack of air conditioning!). We felt the effects anyway, as students were for much of the Spring semester uncertain about housing options. Fortunately, the campus leadership recognized that the Collins community is built upon the enthusiasm and dedication of students who return for a 2nd, 3rd, even 4th year. Thus, even though building closures produced great pressure to find space for first-year students, Collins students were allowed to recontract and return to live in the Quad in 2019-20.

There was a silver lining for us in the crisis, as it focused our attention on the renovation of Collins, now scheduled for 2020-21. This past year, a group of ten students gathered to discuss Collins values and to survey students about how they saw the physical spaces in which they live and study. Next year, students will surely continue their great tradition of self-governance, working with IU Housing to ensure that the new Collins, now with reliable heating and cooling, elevators, and accessibility, will have all the best of the old Collins. I have no doubt that it will, and am excited about our transformation.

There’s another thing I learned over this year that students would surely echo: Collins is blessed with great staff who care so much about the community as a whole and each of the students. Special thanks, then, to Yara, Lindsay, and Leigh! In closing, I hope to see all our friends at IU and beyond at the dedication of our historical marker, part of the IU Bicentennial celebration, on Friday, October 25, in the courtyard.

Padraic Kenney
Professor of History and International Studies
Director, Collins LLC
This past year has seen a number of initiatives at Collins that are particularly exciting, under the guidance of our new director Padraic Kenney. These have energized our programs and activities and coalesced students around three areas that emerged as our primary pillars: self-governance, the arts, and sustainability. This coming year will be the first for SustainCollins and I have immensely enjoyed working with Sarah Mincey, Teresa Dunn (both from the Integrated Program on the Environment), and Tanjimul Alam (with SustainIU) to establish a floor in Cravens that will bring together students with a strong passion for this essential pillar.

In my current role at Collins I have continued to provide residents with an environment in which they can flourish academically, socially, and personally. I support students in their own initiatives, while seeking opportunities to engage other departments and units within Collins. My usual duties include organizational oversight of Collins, teaching, curricular planning, program development, and devising marketing strategies. Given my background in the arts, I mentor our student-run Arts Council, which includes roughly fifteen student coordinators in the visual and performing arts. Arts Council oversaw a variety of activities this past year, including a music talent show, a weaving workshop with local weaver Karen Ellis, participation in our Soup bowl benefit event (Collinsites created ceramic bowls for the tasty soups prepared by residents), an initiative to create a digital arts facility within Collins, and a public art project creating magnet images of fruit out of colored vinyl for display at grocery stores with local artist Joe LaMantia.

To enhance our co-curricular offerings, we collaborated with CLACS and Ethnomusicology and coordinated a series of workshops during the spring semester with Brazilian Fulbright Chair in Brazilian Music, Érica Giesbrecht, on the Brazilian expression of Jongo. (See the section on Guests later in this report).

In the fall, my own teaching included yet another edition of CLLC-L 210: Discovering the Artist’s Book, which has been 20 years in the running (taught every other year). Students not only immerse themselves in the history of this post WWII genre, but also learn essential book making skills to create their own art pieces. During the second eight weeks of the spring semester, I offered CLLC-Q 299: Peer Instructor Workshop and prepared our next crop of peer instructors. My students are always bright-eyed and eager to prepare for teaching CLLC-Q 199: Residential Learning Workshop to incoming students the following fall. In this class, residents make friends, learn about Collins’ organizational structure, are introduced to IU resources for academic, professional, and personal support, and participate in student groups at Collins to engage in the community through a project of their own design. (See the section on Q class later in this report).

Collins continues to be a place where students, faculty, and staff co mingle in an environment primed for learning, engagement, discovery, and sharing, and I am happy to be part of this mix!

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR’S REPORT: YARA CLÜVER
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR: LINDSAY BROWN

In addition to my duties managing the Collins accounts and handling admissions, I continued to oversee the initiatives from our directors of E-Force, Philanthropy Council, Board of Programmers, and the Cheshire Café. Philanthropy Council continued its work with Middle Way House by hosting our Halloween party in the Coffeehouse and Courtyard along with a haunted house in the Ed Basement classroom. The kids enjoyed pumpkin painting, donuts on a string, Halloween crafts, and a pizza party at the end of the event. Philanthropy council held many fundraisers, including our annual Soup Bowl Benefit, to support our service-learning course Spring Break for Kids. Thanks to their hard work we were able to provide sufficient funds for an excellent experience for the children at the Rise. E-Force was active this year with two dedicated co-directors who hosted several programs aimed to raise awareness about energy consumption and recycling habits. I helped students and instructors with funding requests through Fee Committee and explained policies governing our student activity funds and assisted with the transition from student organization accounts to IU accounting. I continued to oversee the operations of the Cheshire Café and helped the student managers work through purchasing and personnel issues. Finally, I provided guidance to the Board of Programmers on logistics and event planning for Collins’ major events during the academic year. It’s been a wonderful and productive 2018-19 and I look forward to the upcoming year.

STUDENT SERVICES ASSISTANT: LEIGH DAVIS

As Student Services Assistant this year, in addition to an assortment of usual office duties, I helped support programming initiatives, student empowerment, and community building throughout the fall and spring semesters. I also completed the Excellence Training Certification (ETC) program for support staff, gaining both valuable skills and new connections from across campus. During the summer and up through August, I continued to serve as the staff advisor and mentor for the group of student leaders planning and implementing Collins’ welcome week programs. The week-long annual event was a success due to the efforts of our hard-working, dedicated team of student volunteers. In the spring I faced a new challenge when the structure of welcome week teams changed and the LLC decided to pursue having its own team, separate from the general campus wide teams. I recruited twelve volunteers and helped them get started on the planning process. In both the fall and the spring semesters, I assisted the Board of Educational Programmers in the collection and compilation of course proposal packets, uploading all of them to Canvas for the group to review in preparation for “first cuts.” We also continued our much beloved day trip to Chicago this past fall, which I planned and facilitated solo for the first time. Students were able to visit The Field Museum and The Art Institute, as well as enjoy free time to walk around downtown. In the spring semester, I offered regular tours at Collins for visitors attending Red Carpet Days at IU. I also reached out to students through social media by helping to run the official Collins Twitter account and Facebook page. Finally, as always, I was a resource, sounding board, and guide for students planning programs, attempting new initiatives, and pursuing innovation within the community throughout the year.
The Collins LLC is a collaboration between the College of Arts and Sciences and Residential Programs and Services (RPS) and comprises a number of student organizations, each of which is mentored by a Collins staff member.

The whole of these groups comprise our Executive Board, which includes Student Government as well as student groups associated with the College of Arts and Sciences (Board of Educational Programmers, Arts Council, and the Sustainable Food Committee), Cheshire Café managers, RHA General Assembly Delegates, IUSA Senator, and our Health and Wellness Liaison. The responsibilities of Executive Board members are to coordinate the efforts of these various groups and to represent the residents by developing programs and enforcing the policies of the organizations.

Student Government is made up of appointed or elected officials who oversee various student committees and which administer community-wide programs in addition to day-to-day decisions. These include the Board of Governors Vice President, Board of Programmers Vice President, Internal Affairs Vice President, Community Council Chair, Conduct Board Chair, E-Force Co-Directors, Director of Finance, Director of Philanthropy, Director of Campus Involvement, Director of Sports and Recreation, and Historian.
The Collins president is a student, elected by students, to represent them in residence hall and campus affairs.

“I moved to Collins my sophomore year, but was involved in the community even before that. You can find me in old photos from my freshman year as I tagged along with my girlfriend who was a resident here at the time. I fell in love with Collins. Since I’ve been here I have been a part of student government and Collins organizations. My first year here I joined E-force, and served as the Collins representative on the RHA sustainability board. Junior year I became one of the Co-coordinators for E-force, and also helped out with Welcome Week and other Collins activities. Halfway through junior year I stepped up into the position of Vice President, and later became the President this year. I also served as a Q-instructor during the fall semester both my junior and senior years. My junior year I also worked as the Collins Yearbook editor, organizing photographers and designing a vessel for Collins culture and history. All of these responsibilities helped me get involved with the community.”
Each year, seven days of in-center and campus-wide Welcome Week programming acts as a continuation of the New Student Orientation process before fall classes begin. A Leadership Team of thirteen Collins residents worked together to help incoming students connect with the people, places, and opportunities at Collins and IU.

Welcome Week at Collins highlights our pillar of student empowerment within the community. Each year, the Leadership Team is fully responsible for planning, budgeting, and carrying out a full week’s worth of themed programming. Our chair was vital to making Welcome Week a success, guiding the rest of the team in running twenty-four programs at Collins over the course of seven days while also handling organizational and administrative tasks happening behind the scenes.

Welcome Week events are themed around a book chosen by the Leadership Team in the previous spring semester. The selected theme has typically been a beloved children’s book or classic novel. This year, our team chose The Tales of Beedle the Bard. Each incoming Collinsite received a copy in the mail over the summer to help them get excited for the upcoming week of events. Programs involved a range of activities that took place at Collins, such as a book discussion luncheon, an outdoor film screening, and a ghost walk.

With students taking the lead on Welcome Week we can look forward to many more years of successful and engaging programming. With each spring semester, new student leaders step up, bringing with them fresh, creative ideas for what the next Welcome Week should look like. This year’s program was a great success and we look forward to what more student involvement in this annual event brings in the future.

BOEP is a central organization at Collins and one of the oldest. Like all Collins’ student organizations it is open to any who would like to attend; it meets every two weeks with some variations. Co-chairs for the following year are usually elected at the end of the spring semester. Much of BOEP’s time is spent reviewing course proposals and choosing the seminars that are taught at Collins. In the period leading up to the course proposal submission deadline, BOEP hosts an open house for prospective instructors and organizes consultations for any prospective instructors who ask. This past year we received 19 course proposals in the fall (for F19) and 23 in the spring (for S20). Most proposals come from advanced IUB graduate students in the College of Arts and Sciences. Each semester BOEP members reviewed the proposals, cut the field down to 15 (“first cut”), interviewed that group of instructors, and made their final choices of 6 seminars and 3 alternates (“final cut”). The students then presented those slates of courses to the Faculty Curriculum Committee (see appendix A) for final approval (and some variations).

The courses taught during 2018-19 and those chosen this past year for 2019-20 are listed on the following two pages.

BOEP also supported various programming efforts at Collins, including the following:

2018-19 Professor brunches and dinners:
- Jordan Taylor, History, IU
- Nicolò Sassi, Religious Studies, IU: Forgotten Christianity

2018-19 Fireside chats:
- Padraic Kenney, Professor of History and International Studies, IU: chat on Polish gnomes
- Jacob Emery, Comparative Literature, IU: chat on Soviet utopias
- Jeffery Holdeman, Slavic and East European Languages and Cultures, IU: chat on vampire culture
- Brian Kaskie, University of Iowa: chat on medical marijuana usage
- Lisa Kwong, English, IU: poetry reading, for Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month

BOEP Officers 2018-2019
Co-Chairs: Audrey Hood (F18), John Morrison (S19), Cameron Kincaid (S19)
Programmers: Taylor Guba, Harry Zhang
Secretary: Ari Trejo
Treasurer: Alex Woosley
COLLINS COURSES 2018-19
Collins freshmen and sophomores agree to take one Collins seminar per year. These are chosen from the slate of courses selected by BOEP but also from other courses taught by IU and Collins faculty, visiting artists and scholars, and the occasional adjunct.

Both BOEP and faculty-taught seminars for this past year are listed below as well as other classes taught at Collins that explore topics ranging from DIY politics to edible plants. Over the summer Collins regularly sponsors one or more “expeditions” classes that take students out of Bloomington. In addition to 2018-19 courses, those scheduled for 2019-20 are also included on the following pages.

- Q299: Peer Instructor Workshop (Yara Clüver, see Q class section)
Q Class

CLLC-Q199: Residential Learning Workshop, better known as the Collins “Q” class, is an integral component of Collins; it is a required course for incoming freshmen and highly encouraged for incoming sophomores. The course is peer taught by juniors and seniors who have lived at Collins for at least two years and who have been trained to teach the course through our Peer Instructor Workshop, CLLC-Q 299 (taken during the preceding spring semester with associate director, Yara Clüver).

Q199 is indispensable to helping new students feel at home at Collins and in easing the transition to college life. The classes are onsite and, thanks to the small class size, students quickly make friends and begin to learn about our history and how we put our core values into practice through student groups, programming, and events. In addition, students learn about resources available to them at Collins, IU, and in the Bloomington community that will help them succeed both academically, professionally, and personally.

As part of the course, and to develop their leadership skills, Q199 students explore one or more of our core values through a Q project where they give back to the community by creating their own programs, or by getting involved in programming with existing student groups. This course is integral to involving new students in the Collins experience.

A Sampling of Projects:

- Leaf recycling art activity
- Collaborative Spotify playlist
- Chemistry review session
- Bollywood dance workshop
- Bob Ross painting night
- iPhone photography workshop
- Instruction on veganism
- Billiards night
- Marvel Cinematic Universe discussion
- Baking club
- Book of “coming out” stories
- Clothing swap
- Voter registration table
- Pumpkin carving event
- Vietnamese Culture Week
- Renaissance lute demonstration
- Bottle cap gnome art piece
- History of US Labor Movements class
- Late night meditation
- Courtyard cider pressing

COLLINS VISITING ARTISTS AND SCHOLARS

Amy Dillard, LEGAL COMMUNICATION AND ANALYSIS

Our visiting scholar (F18) this year was Amy Dillard. Amy is a professor of law in the Legal Rhetoric Program at American University. She has been a visiting professor at the IU McKinney School of Law since 2016. Earlier in her career she worked in the Public Defender’s Office in Alexandria, Virginia, where she served as the city’s deputy public defender and supervised law clerks in trial and appellate court. From 2006, she piloted law classes at the University of Baltimore School of Law that combined doctrinal material with legal analysis and rhetoric. The classes included Introduction to Lawyering Skills as well as an upper-level class on constitutional criminal procedure. She enjoys “actively teaching the mechanics of legal analysis while covering doctrinal material.”

Jacky Comforty, DOCUMENTATION & MEDIA CREATION

Our visiting artist (S19) this year was Jacky Comforty who is a Bloomington resident, but hails from Israel. Jacky is an award-winning filmmaker who has been working in the U.S., Germany, Bulgaria, and Israel for the past 30 years. He specializes in documentaries and media programs for museum exhibitions and other educational formats. In the course, students learned to use media for educational and professional purposes and to be more literate and critically equipped for the digital age. Students also learned to distinguish between mediums for documentation and trained to observe situations and capture them in an ethical and aesthetic manner. The course culminated with students’ own nonfiction documentaries, which they edited and produced through the skills learned in class, and which were presented during finals week in the Coffeehouse and open to the entire Collins community.
In the spring semester, Collins collaborated with the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies (CLACS) and the Department of Folklore and Ethnomusicology who brought researcher Érica Giesbrecht as the Fulbright Visiting Chair in Brazilian Music. She resided in the Collins Hillcrest guest apartment and, as part of her involvement at Collins, presented an interactive workshop that introduced participants to the history and tradition of the Afro-Brazilian Jongo. She shared her knowledge and expertise, and trained students in its expression through dance, drums, and song. Ethnomusicology provided the essential drums needed and workshops were held every Saturday afternoon in the Collins Coffeehouse. Associate Director Yara Clüver worked with student dance coordinator, Bernadette Bradley to coordinate this series of vibrant and energetic workshops with Érica.
ARTS COUNCIL

Arts Council is comprised of a student chair and vice chair and roughly fifteen student coordinators who oversee facilities and run programs in the visual, literary, and performing arts. Any Collins resident is welcome to join the group, which meets bi-weekly to approve project proposals, share programming plans, and to brainstorm ways to involve students in the arts at Collins. Arts Council meets every other Friday at 4:00 pm in the Coffeehouse.

Student coordinators promote their art areas, provide programming for residents, support residents in doing their own projects (particularly Q students), and train residents on equipment and processes in certain facilities. These facilities include a photo darkroom, audio and video production studios, textiles room, ceramics studio, printmaking studio, and a publications office where The Collins Columns, the Dancing Star, The Lantern (our yearbook), and BOEP’s The Pipe and the Barrow are produced. Most of these facilities are located in the Collins Clubhouse in Hillcrest, while ceramics and our multi media room for publications, digital arts and video editing are in the Collins Annex.

Arts Council Student Coordinators:
Chair: Allison Neal
Vice Chair: Bethany Habegger
Audio Production: Aaron Sizemore
Ceramics: Cally Wilken (fall), Persis Wade, Aimes Dobbins (spring)
Collins Columns: Natalia Fuentes-Rohwer, Drew Haines
Dance: Bernadette Bradley
Dancing Star: Kelsey Triebold
Literary Arts: Margaret Schnabel
Photography: Jessie Grubb
Textiles Guild: Natalie Bennett
Theatre Arts: Tallon Boling (fall), Kiah Myers (spring)
Video Production: Ami Kiefer
Visual Arts (printmaking): Jodi Passino (fall), Demi Singh (spring)
The Lantern (yearbook): Abigail Mattson
Yearbook Photographers: Reily Sanders, Mike Randall, Shannon Hocker
A Few Projects and Events:

- Fleece and Film Fright Night
- Art exhibition showcasing Collins talent
- Ceramic soup bowls for benefit
- “Thriller” dance workshop for Halloween Dance
- Music Talent Show
- Painting workshop open house
- Guy Fawkes night
- Manga art inking and illustration workshop
- Halloween writing contest
- Bob Ross painting night
- Weaving workshop with local weaver, Karen Ellis
- Open mic night (songs or monologues from favorite shows)
- Ticket reimbursements to plays, ballets, operas, and music events
- Various art making games and projects for First Thursdays
- Public art project with local artist Joe LaMantia
- Waltzing workshop for Viennese Ball
- Clothing pattern making workshop
This was the third year of Collins Speaks where students enrolled in the course with Associate Director Yara Clüver, developed moving personal stories to share on stage with the Collins community one evening in the Coffeehouse.

Participants included: Lillian Cox, Ava Osowick, Blake Wehrle, Elaina Werbiansky, and Harry Zhang.

One student told about a tree she had planted in 3rd grade and fallen in love with, and then her mother chopped it down for Christmas when she was in high school. Another told of watching his father goad his terrified brother into diving off the high board at a swimming pool. A third talked of mastering English, back home in China, by learning to surrender to the language rather than trying to control it. A fourth told of overcoming all kinds of doubts and disadvantages to audition for a musical in high school, and gaining grudging praise from a demanding dance teacher.

Our thanks go to alumna Candace Bertotti, who brought the concept of Collins Speaks to us and has generously supported it throughout its tenure at Collins.
THE CHESHIRE CAFÉ

The Cheshire Café (an Alice in Wonderland reference as depicted in the hallway mural painted by a Collinsite some years back) is a fully operational, student-run café located next to the Coffeehouse in Edmondson Hall. The student managers carried on the Cheshire Café’s traditions and had a successful year serving customers. Lydia Byers and Becky Oates co-managed the Café; Becky will continue on next year. The Chesh (as it is called by Collins residents) served baked goods from Kroger and continued to sell merchandise consisting of coffee mugs and t-shirts. They also created new designs for our merchandise and ordered fresh sets to be sold next year. The Chesh worked collaboratively with various student groups to generate business with coupon promotions, drink specials for charity, and specialty drinks themed by programs. The baristas at the Chesh also created their own programs to draw in customers. Assistant Director Lindsay Brown oversees the operations of the café.

E-Force

This year’s Environmental Force (E-Force) co-directors were Josephine McCormick and Joli Finley. The group met monthly and worked diligently to come up with creative programming ideas and initiatives to improve sustainability practices at Collins. Programs included flower planting, a clothing swap, film screenings, participating in a bike repair workshop by Bloomington Bike Project, and peer education. The group hopes to continue its work towards providing comprehensive sustainability programming at Collins or elsewhere on campus and will strive to reduce Collins’ carbon footprint.

Board of Governors

The Board of Governors (BoG) is the representative legislative branch of the Collins LLC, responsible for approving members of the Collins executive board and making changes to its constitution, as well as center wide changes, such as quiet hours. It serves as a direct link between residents and student government. It is also a funding board that provides the opportunity for residents to create community programming through financial contribution.

Board of Programmers

The Board of Programmers (BOP) plans Collins’ four major annual events: the Halloween Dance, Dickens Dinner, the Viennese Ball, and Collinsfest (all described in the Major Events section of this report). The Vice President in charge of BOP this year was Abigail Willis, who served on BOP for 3 years before becoming VP! She continued her duties of leading her team of officers and general members in coordinating the logistics, décor, refreshments, and activities for each event.
Philanthropy Council

Collins has a long-standing relationship with Middle Way House and The Rise, our Adopt-a-Non-Profit, which is a local domestic violence shelter serving women and their children. Philanthropy Council raises awareness about Middle Way House within Collins and gets students in our community involved in programming and fundraising efforts to serve the women and children of this organization. AJ Middaugh and Cecilia Vitela, who led Philanthropy Council meetings throughout the semester, oversaw this year’s efforts. They worked with Collins residents biweekly to plan programs and brainstorm fundraising ideas. On a larger scale, Philanthropy Council raised funds to support our Spring Break for Kids course, which takes children at The Rise on field trips during spring break when their mothers are working. Smaller fundraisers included a donations contest for each floor in Collins, a drink special fundraiser at the Cheshire Café, and our Soup Bowl Benefit held in March. This program is an ongoing tradition in collaboration with Arts Council, whose students makes the bowls, and Collins residents, who make the soup. Proceeds are donated to Spring Break for Kids.

Community Council

Community Council meets once a week to approve space requests, provide funding for a variety of programs, discuss rules and regulations about space usage at Collins, and offer a forum for students to talk over and resolve problems in the community. Community Council was run by student chairs Jonathan Morrison (fall 18) and Savannah Claxton (spring 19). This year the group addressed a wide range of topics including ongoing changes at Collins, deadlines for space and funding requests, and respecting quiet hours.
Soup Benefit

Started in 2013 by Philanthropy Director Emily Kehoe, the Soup Benefit has become an annual fundraising event for our service learning course Spring Break for Kids. The 2018-19 student Philanthropy Co-Directors AJ Middaugh and Cecilia Vitela coordinated with the Arts Council ceramics coordinators to prepare the bowls several months in advance and invited volunteers to paint and decorate the bowls when they were finished. They also collaborated with local restaurant Baked! Cookies and volunteer cooks from Collins to prepare a variety of soups to be sold at the event. Ceramic bowls with soup cost $5 a piece and $2 for just a bowl of soup. This year’s fundraiser provided $350 to help run the course.

Halloween Dance

The Halloween Dance is held every year and is planned and sponsored by the Board of Programmers (BOP). BOP creates a theme for the dance and shares this with the residents through a variety of fun events and creative advertisements. This year’s theme was “Hocus Pocus” and BOP decorated the Dining Hall with original handmade prop creating a fun and spooky atmosphere. BOP members utilized their creativity with recycled cardboard, paints and construction paper to make the decorations. Attendees were treated to snacks and candy and BOP held a costume contest with a winner selected at the end of the dance.

Dickens Dinner

The Dickens Dinner is a celebration at the end of the semester, held on the first Thursday in December. Always a popular event, students and their invited professors and guests enjoyed a special Charles Dickens themed holiday meal of roasted turkey accompanied by a wide variety of side dishes. Several local alums were able to attend and enjoy the meal with us again this year. BOP used winter themed decorations to add to the festive atmosphere. Table linens, candles, and low lighting created a warm ambiance for the event. BOP works closely with the dining hall staff to plan the menu and host the dinner and sends them special thanks for making it a memorable evening.
Viennese Ball

In February, BOP hosted the Viennese Ball in the dining hall, a semi-formal dance where students are encouraged to wear an outfit that will coordinate with the dance theme. This year's theme was “Midsummer Night’s Dance.” In addition to the traditional gnome ice sculpture, BOP members worked hard to create a whimsical atmosphere with handmade decorations and twinkling lights to emulate a starry night. We once again commissioned a string quartet from the Jacobs School of Music so students could enjoy waltzing music during the first portion of the dance. A brief waltzing workshop was offered prior to the dance so students could learn some basic steps. Additionally, in lieu of traditional masquerade masks BOP held a flower crown-making workshop which students wore to the dance.

Collinsfest

Collinsfest is an end-of-the-year festival that takes over the Courtyard all day for one Saturday in mid-April. It is an opportunity to showcase our wide range of student groups with fun and educational activities. Our traditional rainbow balloon arch was attached to the veranda and students enjoyed music, lawn games, and a bounce castle. Residents gathered to enjoy food catered by Killroy’s, as well snow cones and cotton candy, and pie-in-the-face for charity. Student groups set up their activities throughout the courtyard and BOP hosted a color-throwing activity as the surprise. We were lucky to have beautiful weather this year. The event was well-attended and students enjoyed themselves.
The Collins awards fall into three categories. Our major financial awards ($300-1000) are supported by alumni contributions, and recipients must either apply or be nominated. Winners this year were chosen by the Collins director. We also have a group of “Gnome awards” that recognize exceptional involvement in Collins among residents. We actively solicit nominations for these awards from Collins staff, RAs, and student leaders. Recipients are chosen at a special executive board meeting and receive Collins swag for their involvement. Finally we have several awards to recognize contributions to Collins by instructors, staff and/or community members. Most of these awards were announced at our Awards Ceremony in April.

EXTERNAL AWARDS

Carl Ziegler Teaching Award for outstanding teaching in the Collins community

F18: Shadia Siliman, Gender Studies (Consent Culture)
Shadia holds a double bachelor’s in Psychology and Gender Studies from the University of Hartford, from which she graduated as valedictorian in 2013. Her research focuses on sexual violence, rape culture, and consent. Specifically, her dissertation uses a Queer of Color Critique to deconstruct the problem of rape and to investigate its spatiotemporal, colonial, affective, and sensory dimensions. Shadia has taught at Collins twice.

S19: Alison Martin, Ethnomusicology (Hearing Race and Place in the US)
Alison holds a Masters in Ethnomusicology and Folklore from IU and Bachelors in Violin Performance and Audio Production from American University. She is a PhD Candidate at IU and her disciplinary interests include African-American popular music and go-go music.

Collins currently produces three major annual publications (funded by student funds). These include The Lantern (yearbook), Dancing Star (literary/arts publication), and The Pipe & the Barrow (a collection of scholarly papers by Collinsites). Student editors and graphic designers work with the director and associate director of Collins on these throughout the year, gathering and editing submissions from residents, creating the designs, and doing the layout work. At the end of the school year we present and distribute these to residents at the annual publications release party in April. Both The Lantern and Dancing Star fall under the aegis of Arts Council, while the Board of Educational Programming puts together The Pipe & the Barrow. Arts Council also publishes the weekly Collins Columns, which hosts an array of opinion pieces, creative work, weekly columns, announcements, and commentary on life at Collins. It has a liberal editorial policy and so occasionally is the site of controversy.

HISTORIAN

Celebrating Collins History
Collins may be unique among student organizations at Indiana—perhaps anywhere—in that among the positions in the student government is that of Historian. Each year, the Collins Historian strives to make students aware of the rich history of the buildings and people of Collins Quad, the LLC, and the former Men’s Residence Center.

With IU celebrating its Bicentennial in 2020, and Collins itself approaching its 50th anniversary (in 2022), we had an opportunity to explore its past in more detail. Historian Nicole Strouts and her team (including Spencer Bures and Sydney Kemme Nash) decided to create a proposal for a historical marker. In 2019-20, IU will install such markers around the Bloomington campus and other campuses to honor significant milestones in the university’s history. The IU Bicentennial Committee approved this proposal, which is the only one to have been created by IU students. An unveiling is planned for Fall 2019.

In addition, the historian team began to explore the University Archives in search of evidence of Collins history stretching back to the building of what is now Smith Hall in 1929. Working with Residential Programs and Services, they have planned a series of framed displays showing documents and images from various periods. In Summer 2019, Associate Director Yara Clüver worked with Collins student Aaron Sizemore, who digitized hundreds of items from the university collection.

Already the discoveries have attracted much attention from alumni and students. The newspaper clipping [here], when posted on Facebook in April, drew a lot of speculation. Eventually, alumni helped fill in the details: the balloon belonged to Collins student Bill Oliver ’83, son of the founder of Oliver Winery. The balloon advertised the winery’s Camelot Mead. The picture was taken in front of Edmondson Hall most likely in winter 1981.
